Local Cotton Market.

Total wagon receipts up to Saturday night were 4,800 bales. Prices today ranged from 11 to 11.25, with quite a lot offered.

The Ardmore Oil &amp; Milling company was paying from $30 to $32 for seed, which they claim is the legitimate market for north Texas and Oklahoma, although some street buyers paid as high as $34. There seems to be a cotton seed war on at present, and higher prices have been often paid than the market warranted, although that is not a condition that interests the farmer who has seed to sell.

Henry Baum is moving his stock of goods from the Lake building on West Main street back to his former stand in the Randol building, which has been rebuilt since the big explosion.

The December term of district court will convene December 1 with the civil docket to be disposed of. The docket for this term is quite heavy, and it will take some time to dispose of it.

Oklahoma as a state is eight years old today. The cornerstone of the new state capitol building will be laid at Oklahoma City, and the new building dedicated. All county offices throughout the state were closed for a half holiday.

IS MOVING
TO ARDMOREHAS BEEN ELECTED SECRETARY
OF THE ARDMORE CREDIT AS-SOCIATION, AND WILL ASSUME HIS DUTIES AT ONCE.

At a meeting of the directors of the Business Men's Credit Association, Monday night, Walter S. Gilbert, former assistant state highway commissioner and secretary to the state highway department during the Crouce administration, was elected as secretary of the association and has already begun his duties at the assembly rooms of the chamber of commerce. Mr. Gilbert is a former newspaper man and has had large experience along the lines necessary for his new duties. He is a man of educational attainments, cultured, and unassuming in his demeanor.

He has a wife and a daughter, the latter being in the Oklahoma City high school and for that reason he will not move his family until the close of the present semester, after which the family will make their home here. Col. Sidney Suggs, who for four years and more, has been intimately associated with the new secretary is responsible for his coming to Ardmore, and speaks for him and his family a wide circle of friends in their new home.

The merchants will hold a meeting next Tuesday, when all will be given an opportunity to meet the new secretary.

Ashamed of Own Toes.

Man is a five-toed animal who seems ashamed of the fact. He covers his sensitive feet with leather, which turns him into an imitation ungulate, or hoofed creature, and then wonders why he has corns and bunions. He takes the spring out of the earth with his pavements and the elasticity out of his stride with hard-soled shoes, and marvels why walking has become a pain instead of a pleasure. There may be some climatic excuse for this folly in winter, and as for grown-ups at any season "the world has set its heavy yoke upon the grave and aged folk." But give the kids, even the poor little rich kids, a chance to get their feet on the good breast of the earth.

CITY DADS IN
SION TONIGHTOLD BUILDING ORDINANCE WILL PROBABLY BOB UP SERENELY
FOR FINAL PASSAGE — OTHER MATTERS OF IMPORTANCE.

At the regular meeting of the Board of City Commissioners tonight, the newly appointed commissioner from the Third ward, O. C. Lasher, will meet with them for the first time, and begin to familiarize himself with the duties of his office. Mr. Lasher is thoroughly conversant with the needs of the city, and especially the Third ward, and will make the citizens an efficient officer.

Without some new phase of the building ordinance comes to the horizon tonight the board will probably take final action on this question and settle for all time the ordinance that has caused the mayor and commissioners several sleepless nights. The commissioners have done a great deal of pruning to the document from its original draft, and there have been a number of sections eliminated that would not apply to this city at the present time, and probably never would.

The city attorney has been doing his utmost to get all laws and ordinances of the city now in force and effect into shape to have them codified and printed, and stated that he would have the copy ready for the printers in a few days. A number of old and obsolete laws will be dropped from the statutes of the city, and those which are now in effect will be compiled in the new volume.

There has been considerable agitation in the past relative to the repairs necessary on the streets of the city in the paved district, and it has been reported from time to time that the contractors were going to make good on their bond and restore the streets, but up to date there has been a woeful lack of real work done and the streets, in many instances, are in a deplorable condition. This matter will probably be up for another hearing tonight, as there has been considerable agitation over it lately, and some action taken if the city has a contract with the contractors that will stand the test of the courts, otherwise the city will probably have to get busy on its own account, and repair the paving where it is so badly needed.

Several other matters of importance will be up before the mayor and commissioners for their consideration tonight.

Making a Rug "Antique."

How "genuine antique rugs" are manufactured and prepared for European and American markets is told by a writer who visited Bagdad.

The shopping streets seem like tunnels, he writes. They are arched overhead with brick to keep out the heat; thus they run, like subways, up and down the bazaar quarter. Through those long, stifling, faintly lighted tunnels throngs the eternal crowd of men, mules and camels. Often you will see a fine rug lying flat in the fifth of a narrow street, ground beneath the tramp of men and beasts; but there is method in this. Foreigners make Oriental rugs, bright and new, in Persia, and sell them through Bagdad. Since an "old rug" is worth more, wily brokers have hit on this shameful way to make a new rug look old.—National Geographic Magazine.

A City of Churches.

Warsaw is also a city of churches, with six Russian and more than thirty Roman Catholic. Among the latter is the Cathedral of St. John, north of the Palace Square and connected with the palace. A magnificent view of both buildings may be had from the opposite rising bank of the river. The cathedral dates from the fourteenth century.

Warsaw has long been famous for its printing and carriage industries, its woven goods, and its plated ware. It is also the clearing house between the North and the South, coal, leather, and wheat being the principal exchanges, which, before the war, passed over the railways centered here. In drainage, waterworks, and rapid transit facilities the city has not kept pace with its growing industrial importance.

There is no better investment for a business man than judicious newspaper advertising.

Market for Handkerchiefs.

The immediate surroundings of the great pier where St. Paul landed are as filthy as any other part of Pozzuoli. Indescribable old hags leer at us from the doorways; ragged and dirty children, wholly unacquainted with the use of a pocket handkerchief, swarm around us. Several small fishing boats are drawn up on the shore and a little church, called St. Paul's Chapel, stands immediately behind the ancient mole.

The modern pier, built over the ancient mole, is a truly magnificent one of solid cut stone, which runs far out into the sweet, clean water, and by going out to the end we get beyond the reach of the importunate touts. If one can forget the approaches to the pier, he can here enjoy the enchanting scenery of the sea and shore, while his mind is stimulated by memories of the mighty past.
